A FESTIVAL OF LOCAL MUSIC FROM AROUND THE WORLD

FESTIVAL GUIDE: Friday 24th September

Manouche à Trois

Friday 24th September

6pm-7pm SEVEN ARTS BAR/COURTYARD

Manouche à Trois bring all the swing the 1920's can muster into the 21st century. With a set list that pulls on legends from Django Reinhardt to Duke Ellington they artfully cross authentic gypsy jazz with lively vocal and sax driven numbers. The captivating jazz interpretations never leave behind the melodic and percussive nature of the genre. They are not afraid to get down with the kids either, serving up a few up-to-date modern classics from little more than 20 or 30 years ago. Whether sitting back and soaking up the guitar licks or taking to the dance floor, Manouche à Trois have something for everyone. A perfect way to kick off the 2021 festival in style.

Oly Clarkson – Vocals, Sax, Clarinet / Andy Byrne – Guitar / Emlyn Vaughan – Bass

World On Our Doorstep 2021

A FESTIVAL OF LOCAL MUSIC FROM AROUND THE WORLD

FESTIVAL GUIDE: Saturday 25th September Early Afternoon

Sugarwell Hill ('pop-up' gig / p-w-y-f)

Saturday 25th September

1pm-1.45pm SEVEN ARTS COURTYARD / BAR

Sugarwell Hill are a Leeds based three-piece old-time string band, featuring Simon Robinson (vocals, banjo, guitar, dulcimer), Evan Davies (vocals, mandolin, guitar, fiddle) and Michael Russell (fiddle, banjo, guitar). They play hypnotic, foot stomping fiddle tunes and sing folk songs and ballads from America and Britain.

Kaminari

Saturday 25th September

2pm-3pm SEVEN ARTS VENUE

Kaminari UK taiko drummers bring you an energetic and dynamic drumming performance. Originating in Japan, taiko combines rhythm and movement to produce a visual, fun and absorbing display. Taiko means "drum" in Japanese, but played together as an ensemble, it is known as Kumi-daiko (group drums). Formed in 2009, the band have grown into an established performance group playing a mixture of traditional Japanese pieces and original compositions. From loud and fast, to quiet and moody with everything in between.

Kaminari are: Tracy Evans, John Hughes, Tony Jacques, Mary Murata, Sarah Tilston, Chris Wright [If you are concerned about high volume levels – particularly for young people attending – then we recommend that you provide your own ear defenders/plugs]

Brigadistas ('pop-up' gig / p-w-y-f)

Saturday 25th September

3.30pm-4.15pm SEVEN ARTS COURTYARD / BAR

"The Brigadistas music collective includes musicians from a variety of international backgrounds. They take a raw and raucous punk approach to the delivery of folk songs about rebellion from Spain, Italy, Ireland, Russia, Mexico, and America (to name a few), respecting their traditional context whilst preserving their focus on unity and solidarity. As a collective, the instrumentation varies, but has been known to include mandolin, penny whistle, accordion, guitar, harmonica, double bass, trumpet, clarinet, percussion (drums, congas, bongos, tambourine), violin, and crowd vocals for the perfect mixture of chaos and joy!"

A FESTIVAL OF LOCAL MUSIC FROM AROUND THE WORLD

FESTIVAL GUIDE: Saturday 25th September Early Evening

The Bhangra Duet ('pop-up' gig / p-w-y-f)

Saturday 25th September

4.45pm-5.30pm SEVEN ARTS COURTYARD / BAR

Energetic yet graceful traditional Punjabi dance and drum, led by South Asian Arts collaborator and renowned local musician Prabhjot Singh Gill, joined by dancers Arjan Sembhi and Kiran Kaur.

Ali Bullivent and Paula Ryan ('pop-up' gig / p-w-y-f)

Saturday 25th September

6pm-6.45pm SEVEN ARTS COURTYARD / BAR

Beginning our Saturday evening celebration of 'Women Of The World', Ali and Paula create original music which celebrates the strength of individual spirit and draws inspiration from everyday people who overcome adversity. Ali and Paula will also be performing a selection of songs from around the world, including the festivals' unofficial anthem, Jerusalem. Based in the folk tradition, Ali has appeared at each incarnation of the festival so far, and we welcome her positive energy back once more. We are delighted to have her joined by festival newcomer and acclaimed Irish musician and singer, Paula Ryan.

WOMEN OF THE WORLD

Saturday 25th September

7.30pm-10.30pm SEVEN ARTS VENUE

7.30pm – 8.00pm

Satnam Galsian

Satnam is a British Asian vocalist from Leeds. Her individual style and versatility are demonstrated through a repertoire ranging from cross-genre compositions to Punjabi folk songs. Her passion is to bring these centuries-old songs to a wider modern audience. Her soaring voice transports us to a different time and place. In Punjabi, this is called Pāradaraśī, a transcendental experience. We are thrilled, once again, that Satnam's enchanting and evocative music will be a feature of this year's festival.

A FESTIVAL OF LOCAL MUSIC FROM AROUND THE WORLD

FESTIVAL GUIDE: Saturday 25th September Evening

Women of the World continued...

8.15pm – 9.00pm

Oljanita

Anita Bašić is the musical director of Bradford Accordion Band (approaching their 25th anniversary) and is particularly proud of their ongoing charitable concerts, which so far have raised over £20,000 for local causes. Anita is joined by Serbian musician, Olja Bojanić, who will be playing keyboard and violin. Oljanita will be performing a selection of Balkan music from their joint repertoire.

“My personal mission is to present the image of ‘our’ accordion as both a flexible and desirable instrument; one that has the potential to bring people together, regardless of age, culture or experience.” - Anita Bašić

FESTIVAL GUIDE: Sunday 26th September Finale

Kwame D (+band)

Sunday 26th September

8.15pm-10pm SEVEN ARTS VENUE

Kwame D and his band perform reggae-infused rhythmic soul, R&B and world music to feel good. Born in Ghana to a Ghanaian father and French mother, there was always a mix of music and creativity at Kwame's home. His roots are African rhythms, Latin, blues and reggae. Influences include Curtis Mayfield, Marvin Gaye, Aaron Neville and Robert Cray, plus African style of artistes such as Salif Keita, Youssou N'Dour and Fela Kuti. Kwame's sound also embraces Spanish guitar influences from bands such as The Gypsy Kings plus the sounds of reggae legends Jimmy Cliff and Bob Marley. We can't think of a finer way to end the festival and soak in his sweet vibes.

"Infectious percussive guitar style, sealed with a voice of soul." – BBC
